

Dear Sir/Madam,

I, Mrs APPLICANT, am writing to you as the applicant of the British Spouse Visa, to declare my cash saving as the source of the funds for my category D cash saving evidence. I would like to use these to cover 100% of the requirement and if necessary am willing to use this money to cover all expenses and living costs for the next two and a half years for both myself and my husband, SPONSOR.

All the funds to be used are held in my name, Mrs APPLICANT, I hold all the funds in just one account. This account is held in a British bank account with Barclays Bank PLC- UK. These funds were received through the sale of property in Seoul, South Korea. I transferred the funds from my Korean bank account to my British bank account.

I have had £301,657.00 available in the Barclays account since December 20th 2017 for over six months, and I can confirm that they are 100% mine (APPLICANT). I have instant access to this account in cash. In addition to the deposit of £301,657 on December 20th, my husband also deposited £1,850 on 29th January 2018 while visiting the UK.

Please find the available funds in the following account;

1. Barclays Bank PLC- UK, International Bank Account, SORT CODE, ACCOUNT NO, Balance £303,507.00

I am submitting these documents to support my declaration;

1. Officially certified copies of bank statements given to me by Barclays.
2. Official letter from Barclays stating that these copies are officially verified to be official copies.

If there is any more information you require from me please contact me straight away.

Yours sincerely,

APPLICANT
